Inspiration can be found in soft mosses and lichens growing around and covering glacial erratics - fiery reds, buttery golds, and burnt oranges. The rocks are a cooling influence with deep blues, almost indigos, and pale airy greys.

This lake, with ripples gently breaking the surface of the water has lush green borders of trees, grasses, fireweed, and wild celery. You can almost feel the dappled sunlight on your skin as you imagine the clouds on a mostly sunny day, floating by.

Bright pinks, corals, peaches, and violets of sunset reflect on this snowy mountain scene. The colors deepen as they bounce on the calm water of this lake. Trees and shrubs dot the winter landscape, absorbing the last light of the day.

Stars peek through the darkness during this northern lights performance. Cool teals and greens capture the feel of a brisk winter evening, with a soft edge of magenta stealing a glimpse through the trees.

BOTTOM L-R: WHIP LASH, P150-6; LASER LEMON, P290-7

This mixed use, high density building uses bright, warm colors along with other architectural elements to help mitigate the size and scale of its presence. The blue of the sky and of the street signs completes the primary color trifecta, and makes the beige and grey of the building and streetscape recede.

In addition to the spread of reds, yellows, and blues in the example above, this neighborhood chose to paint their buildings in a rainbow of saturated shades. The colors are different and varied enough to make the streetscape interesting, yet they are still united because all the buildings participated in joining the fun.

The garden that these purple bell flowers thrive in looks like a vibrant paradise on a warm summer's day. You can almost feel the dewdrops that collect on the petals each morning. Wide, new growth leaves add a bountiful backdrop for the bell flowers and a little peek of crimson flashes through the foliage.

Look closely at these gorgeous autumn leaves, hints of their past life still evident even though a soft, buttery gold takes over. Fuchsia veins crossing the pale yellow leaves mirror the fall colors of the plants nearby - a fiery deep pink that contrasts beautifully with the mossy greens beneath.
