To better prepare our citizens for natural and man-made disasters the city of Anchorage has developed the Aware with Care program. The goal is to educate and inform our seniors, special needs citizens and all vulnerable Alaskans, so we can be better prepared should a disaster strike.

Do you have an emergency supply of food and water?

How about a communications plan? Or, a first aid kit?

Do you live alone or have special needs? If so, then get to know your neighbors, they can often be your first source of help during an emergency. Having a plan, being prepared, and having someone that can check on you can make a big difference during and after a natural or man-made disaster.

The Aware with Care program needs volunteers to help educate and inform. So, get involved and lend a hand. This city wide disaster preparation program will speak volumes about Anchorage's spirit and determination. And it will help protect lives!

The Aware with Care program is available for community groups, senior centers, churches, caretakers, and individuals.

While supplies last, we have free emergency kits to give away to our city's seniors and citizens with special disabilities. To find out more about the Aware With Care program, visit us on line at muni.org. Or, call the program office at 343-4491

Remember, we cannot predict, only prepare. Are you Aware?
