FCC Going Green

Due to recent budget cuts, the Federation of Community Councils which pays for the distribution of this newsletter, is going green. The goal is to get as many council members communicating via e-mail as soon as possible.

Spread the word to your neighbors and friends to sign up at the next meeting to get the newsletter each month through e-mail.

Moving to another part of Anchorage or can't make it to the meeting?

Go to the FCC website at:

www.communitycouncils.org

and enter in your e-mail for the council you want to keep up with the local issues.

Your participation will reduce the Muni budget and save trees, thanks for your help!

Klatt/C St. Roundabout

Last month we reviewed the 65% plan for the roundabout design. We're not experts, but it looks like an attractive design with ample flowering landscaping, brickwork to enhance the area including lights in the tunnel for cyclists and pedestrians. It looks to be a showcase landmark. Thanks Rep. Craig Johnson and Senator McGuire for bringing this attractive design to the neighborhood.

Zoning Clash

For several years tension has been growing between two different zoning use property owners next to each other in our council area. One side is residential zoning and the other is heavy industrial. The area is specifically off of 120th, right behind the red Video City building west of the railroad tracks.

The industrial zone, on seven acres, is being used as a staging area to store horse manure before it is hauled off to the valley. This type of zoning is limited, there is no where else in Anchorage to rid waste for horse owners. The business owner has generally been operating per what his zoning allows and stepped up to fulfill a need when no one else would.

The residents have photos, logs and diaries of how their quality of life has changed. During the summer months they endure high decibels (80db is legal for heavy industrial use), dust from heavy trucks running to and fro, obstruction of previous mountain views, and a constant stench of horse manure. Residents claim some days the pungent smell provide no feasible relief for fresh air outside or inside their homes.

The business owner believes the complaints are coming from a handful of residents and has made accommodations for the dust, smell and noise by building a large dirt berm along the property line.

The Council remains objective to find a fair solution before the snow begins to melt. Assembly Member Jennifer Johnson is familiar with the situation and is using what resources she has to help us solve the issue.

A progress report will be given at the next council meeting on the 27th. Assembly Member Jennifer Johnson will be there to let us know what options are available to accommodate our residential owners and our heavy industrial owner.
