

Folker Park Site Plan

Anchorage Parks and Recreation is developing a new site plan for Folker Park

About Folker Park

Folker Park is a 2.02 acre neighborhood park located in the University Area neighborhood of Anchorage. The park is located at Folker Street & E. 42nd Street.

Folker Park provides recreational opportunities for a variety of park users. The park features picnic tables and a forested gravel trail. The park also includes a large adopt-a-garden on the southwest corner of the property. On-street parking is available.

Site Plan

- ★ 20 year vision that will guide future development of the park
- ★ Identify current and future needs and desired improvements
- ★ Fundraising for park improvements

Project Overview

In recent years, there has been increased interest in upgrading facilities at Folker Park. To ensure that future upgrades meet the needs and expectations of the community, Anchorage Parks and Recreation will be working with the University Area Community Council and an advisory group to develop a current site plan.

The site plan will provide a 20 year vision for the park. It will identify current and future needs, address issues and concerns, and establish a framework for future development of the park.

Project Information

Project updates will be posted regularly to the Parks and Recreation webpage. For more information, contact Anchorage Parks and Recreation...
